A copy of every post-visit/inspection report generated related to the above issues over the above time period.	each of the 5 sample records. $2,220 \times 2 = (4,440 \text{ minutes}) 74 \text{ hours}$ During this sample search the officer also tested how long it would take to extract the information and they discovered: Time taken to extract the information and associated document likely to be on average 5 minutes. If 25% of the records contain this information this is $555 \times 5 = (2,775 \text{ minutes}) 46.25 \text{ hours}$ The total estimate time to search and extract the information would be:

	74 + 46.25 = 120.25 It would divert two full time offices to complete the request within the deadline. This would impede their daily work priorities including: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Undertaking investigation- Inspections to high and medium risk businesses- Supporting vulnerable victims This would exceed the 18-hour appropriate time limit. Advice and assistance: The service conducted a project in 2023/24 where one of the objectives was to determine compliance with pricing information. A list of the 52 premises visited already exists and so time to extract the data from these would be within the appropriate limit. The service also advise that the information is partially in the public domain and can be found here: https://www.derby.gov.uk/news/2024/june/trading-standards-make-sure-the-price-is-right-in-derby/
